

Plaza Construction Adds Interior Build-Out Service To Mid-Atlantic Operations

October 27, 2020

Plaza Construction, one of the nation's foremost full-service construction management and general contracting firms, today announced a service line expansion for its Mid-Atlantic operations focused on interior build-outs. This expansion brings Plaza's 27 million square feet of interiors' experience to the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area.

Plaza assembled a team of Washington, D.C.-based construction industry experts to support the Mid-Atlantic region and service this geographical area. While Plaza's portfolio continues to include work in the residential, retail, core and shell sectors, this new addition will allow its Mid-Atlantic region to expand into the interiors market sector, which has demonstrated steady growth over the years.

"Our clients can count on receiving the same client-centric service that has been a part of our DNA since the company's inception in 1986," said Emre Ozcan, executive vice president, Mid-Atlantic for Plaza Construction. "We are confident that this team's expertise on repositioning, renovation and tenant improvement projects will be an added value to our current and future clients. Nationally, Plaza has built some of the most impressive projects in this market sector and we look forward to continuing this track record of success in the D.C. metro area."

Plaza's residential and multi-family properties are built with a focus on end-user efficiency and lifecycle cost management, making quality paramount on any residential construction project – whether small or large-scale, fast-track or long-term.
